TO UNION MEN.

THE WORK BEFORE THEM.

At a meeting of the Republican Executive County Committee, at Headquarters, on Saturday, it was, on motion of John H. Stewart, Esq.,

RESOLVED, That we urge upon our political friends in the cities of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, and throughout the county, to devote the coming week exclusively to the perfecting of their party organizations, the appointment of Block and Vigilance Committees in every Ward, Borough, Township and Election Precinct, the appointment of Challengers at polls, and such other matters of detail as will insure an overwhelming majority for the ticket.

Let every patriotic citizen, in this critical hour, at whatever personal sacrifice, give one week of labor to the final preparations for the great struggle now so closely at hand.

Headquarters open at all hours for distribution of tickets, posters for the polls, &c., &c.

JOHN W. RIDDELL,
Chairman County Committee.
T. M. HAVEN, Secretary.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT.

The Copperhead organ at Greensburg contains what purports to be a brief account of the debate at that place on the 21st ult., in which, after showing the invitation to Mr. STEVENS and "other distinguished Radicals," it is stated that when they met in the Court House, after the arrangement of the programme between the Committees, "it was found that Mr. WILLIAMS would not agree to speak at all unless he got the closing speech." The same account shows, however, that Mr. WILLIAMS did speak, and that Mr. COWAN closed, without even consuming all his time.

The Editor who thus convicts himself by his own statement, and seems, from his own account, to have been the Chairman of the Copperhead Committee, if he had been disposed to make that statement consistent, by telling the truth, would have informed his readers that it was Mr. COWAN and his own Committee who absolutely refused to go into a debate where he was the challenger, and even publicly insisted that the burthen was on the Union men, unless that gentleman was allowed to withhold his argument and close the debate himself, and that although the Union Committee had waived, against express instructions, the undoubted right to hear from Mr. COWAN in advance, Mr. WILLIAMS, after a distinct refusal on the part of Mr. COWAN to change the programme, and a declaration by him that the discussion could proceed on no others terms, preferred to go into the debate even at this disadvantage, rather than allow the adversary to escape, as he desired to do.

The same account disposes of the argument of Mr. W. by its summary characterization as "a stump speech, extremely personal in its character, but wanting in every essential the character of an argument," while that of Mr. COWAN was "a brief appeal to the intelligence, and not to the passions of the people," and by the assertion that "our people" (meaning, of course, the Copperheads) were "delighted with the debate and its results." It forgets, however, to state that its clerical champion, Mr. MOORE, who made, as it says, "one of the cleverest, most logical and conclusive replies" (to Mr. GROW, of course,) the Editor "had ever listened to," and "concluded amidst the wildest shouts and cheers of the audience," felt himself obliged to spend an additional hour in an extensive Copperhead meeting the same night, in repairing the damages his argument had sustained from the speech which the Editor considers no argument at all.

We should think from the long practice of the Copperhead fraternity of Editors, they ought by this time to have made so much proficiency in the art of lying as to enable them to preserve their consistency throughout, and give to their fabrications the air of probability, or plausibility at least.

LETTER FROM NORTH CAROLINA.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.
RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 28, 1866.

On the 16th instant the Military Commission, in session here for the trial of civil employees of the Freedmen's Bureau, for charges made by Generals Steedman and Fullerton, completed the farce of trying Rev. Horace James, of Pitt county. All the facts in his case had been brought on on previous trials before the same officers, and every body knew there was not a shadow of foundation for either of the charges. Mr. James very justly appealed to the Court to vindicate him more completely by declaring the falseness and frivolity of the charges in their findings. What those findings are is, of course, not yet disclosed, and perhaps those, as in cases of other officers, will not be heard of till after the fall elections.

The zeal displayed by the Government in prosecuting these trials has not unaptly been contrasted with its extreme indifference in another case which has called loudly, for its interposition. In the spring of 1864, twenty-three (23) United States soldiers, captured by the Rebel forces at Plymouth, in this State, and in the expedition against Newbern, were publicly executed at Kinston, Lenoir county, by hanging, on the ground that they were deserters from the Rebel army. The executions were attended with the most atrocious circumstances, the victims undergoing every kind of privation and insult while in confinement, and their bodies being stripped after death to compensate a wretched negro for his services. The chaplain who attended them up to the hour of their death, persecuted them by saying that their allegiance to the Union was the sin which peculiarly condemned them. "Make sound overtures." And even those who were church members and declared that their peace was made with God, and that they were ready to meet Him, were informed that such "dying grace" would not save them, and they must "repent and hope till they repented of their loyalty. Twelve of these men were hung at once from the same pole in the streets of Kinston.

There is no record of any court martial. On the contrary the haste with which some of the murders were committed, without even a form, may be inferred, at least in their cases. Besides this the evidence is beyond dispute, that not more than one or two of them were ever in the Confederate service, and consequently that they would not have deserted from it. They were nearly all enrolled in certain companies for local defence or railroad bridge guards, getting no pay from the rebel government, and doing no service due to it. On an effort being made to put them into the actual service of the Confederacy by enrolling them into a newly organized North Carolina regiment, after general conscription, they had run away into the fosters, lines and then volunteered in a loyal North Carolina regiment. They were hanged in the uniform of United States soldiers.

One of them, Elijah Kellum, was a cripple of feeble intellect, whom the recruiting officer in vain tried to get into the rebel army had twice rejected. The case was peculiarly painful.

It is not worth while to recount in detail the sufferings of these men, martyrs though they were, and their destitute, helpless wives and children, who manage to live here on the attention of the War Department being called to the facts during the fall of 1865, a commission was appointed to investigate the matter, as it was supposed, by some of those to whom it might belong.

The preliminary investigations of the Commission, of which Captain W. E. Doherty, Assistant Adjutant General, was the recorder, developed the fact that Major General Ruger, then commanding the rebel army, was the author of the order for the execution of the Kinston prisoners. Adjutant General Holt, in his report, quoted this order, decided that it did not justify the plea of those who executed it, and recommended the punishment of those implicated in the murders. But the Commission, composed of officers who had been in command of the rebel army, and who had been appointed by Gen. Sickles, decided that Ruger's order was a justification, and that Major General Ruger, who issued it, was the only person who could be punished. He was tried by the Commission, and, of course, acquitted. Since the adjournment of the Commission, Ruger has been appointed Brevet Major General, and recommended for the Brevet of Lieutenant General by Gen. Sickles, who, in his report, declared that the Commission had no power to punish those who executed the order.

The zeal displayed by the Government in the trial of Ruger contrasts with its indifference to the fate of the victims of the order. Not a dollar has been appropriated for the relief of the widows and orphans of the murdered men, and they are left to starve or beg. Their husbands and fathers were executed by the United States, and the Government which executed them has not even given their families the poor privilege of burying the bodies. They are left to rot in the fields where they were shot down.

Is it not worth while to call the attention of the Secretary of War to this matter? Is it impossible to get Congress to make some appropriation for the relief of these widows and orphans? Is it impossible to get the Government to bury the bones of these victims of its own cruelty? Is it impossible to get the Government to punish Ruger? Is it impossible to get the Government to punish those who executed the order? Is it impossible to get the Government to punish those who executed the order? Is it impossible to get the Government to punish those who executed the order

THE ASPECT OF THE FIELD.

The present canvass in Pennsylvania is characterized, on the Republican side, by a depth of feeling and a fixedness of purpose for which no parallel can be found in our history. This is partly owing to the gravity of the issues involved. Never had a people a more momentous stake to be decided by the ballot. It is, also, partly owing to the treachery by which the fruits of victory on the battle field are sought to be wrenched away and given up to the vanquished. Both of these causes combined have conspired to inflame fervor to the highest pitch of enthusiasm. And yet there has been, and is, a remarkable exemption, both in the press and in popular assemblies, from the violence and disgraceful personalities by which former canvasses have been marked. Not that there have been no breaches of propriety in this particular; but that offences against common decency have been unfrequent and of less malignancy. Public questions, by their essential importance, have overshadowed and dwarfed most questions relating mainly or solely to the personal character and conduct of individuals.

All the indications point to the election of General GEARY to the Governorship by a large majority. Whatever defections have been created in the republican ranks by a corrupt use of governmental patronage—by seducements in the form of appointments offered to venal or necessitous individuals—have been compensated, and more than compensated by accessions from the democratic ranks of men whose patriotic fears have been aroused by the tendencies sought to be imparted to national concerns. While this has been the principal cause of accessions, it has not been the only one. Many democrats who abode by their party all through the war, have come to feel that General GEARY by his military services has fairly earned popular recognition, and are resolved to give him their votes.

The political complexion of the two Houses of Assembly does not seem to rest in doubt. Manifestly the republicans will have majorities in both the Senate and House of Representatives, and Mr. EDGAR COWAN will receive permission to vacate the seat he holds in the federal Senate. Whether he will come back to private life, or seek promotion from the President, is a concern in which we do not care to meddle. Last year the Republican majority in the Senate was seven; in the House, twenty-eight; on joint ballot thirty-five. The majorities this year are not likely to be lessened.

Of the Congressional districts which the Republicans carried two years ago, the chances are they will lose none. The Fifth District was close, Mr. THAYER having only 278 over Mr. Ross. Mr. TAYLOR, the present Republican candidate, in addition to the general drift in his favor, has strong elements of personal popularity, which make him considerably stronger than his party. In the Sixteenth District the contest is again between KOONTZ and CORFROTH, but, from special and general causes, Mr. KOONTZ's prospects are better now than at the last trial.

Three districts which the Democrats carried two years ago the Republicans carried last year. In the Tenth District Colonel CAKE is the Republican nominee, and no reasonable doubt seems to remain of his election. In the Twelfth District Mr. KETCHUM was beaten, two years ago, by a trifle over five hundred votes. Last year the two counties composing the district were carried for General HARTRANFT, the Republican candidate for Auditor General, by a larger majority than that. This year Mr. JAMES ARCHBALD is the Republican candidate for Congress. On political grounds he is certainly as strong as General HARTRANFT, and enjoys a larger degree of personal popularity than any other man, of either party, in the district. He can hardly fail of going through. In the twenty-first district Dr. FULLER was defeated by Mr. DAWSON, two years ago, by a majority of 133. But last year Gen. HARTRANFT carried the district by several hundred. Mr. COVODE is now the Republican candidate, having for his competitor, a young man named Mr. WIER. Mr. COVODE has never failed when he was a candidate, and although the district is close, we think his tact and energy will prove equal to the occasion.

With such prospects ahead the Republicans have the strongest inducements presented them for exerting their best energies during the week that remains. Let every man be at his post. Let no proper effort be neglected, and we shall equal if not surpass the proud achievement of our brethren in Maine.

THE meaning of Mr. SEWARD, when he demanded of a vast concourse of citizens whether they would have ANDREW JOHNSON for President or King, begins to be apparent. The Richmond Dispatch, commenting upon the popularity of General GRANT with the rebellionists, and the prospect of his being their next nominee for the Presidency, says:

"We doubt whether there is any necessity for a new nomination. Mr. Johnson 'suits us very well,' and as there is no prospect, on the part of the Democracy, of a change in constitutional election by all the States, there is no necessity for an unconstitutional one by a part of the States. The President has as much right to live and die as President as to live and die President, and we have to put his successor in the field as against the wishes of a majority of the people of the United States."

How much difference there is between a permanent President and a King it would be difficult to determine.

PARTY LEADERS.

Nothing is more common than for journals or individuals who have undertaken to withstand and turn back strong currents of public opinion, and have signally failed therein, to attribute their want of success to the selfish obstinacy of party leaders. Their self-complacency leads them into the folly of supposing the masses of the people were quite ready to follow them, but were hindered by the malign influence exerted over them by other personages. This consideration may be a sort of emollient to wounded vanity, but it contains the smallest possible fraction of truth. In general party leaders are formidable only when they fall into the moving current, and show intimate and lively sympathy with it. The moment they take themselves out of the current, and seek to lead it into new and ungenial channels, they find themselves shorn of influence and left solitary.

The Buffalo Commercial Advertiser, a journal of quasi-republican antecedents, became a party to the coalition, and supports the Fusion Ticket. In view of the intractability of popular opinion it despairs of success, and gives vent to its disappointment, by declaring—

"We are waiting, with an anxious hope to see whether the earnest and honest convictions of the people will not yet prevail over the stubborn party fealty of mistaken leaders."

To this the New York Times responds:

"We have been over a good deal of that ground ourselves, and cannot conscientiously hold out any encouragement to the Commercial. Its 'hope' will grow more and more 'anxious' the longer it waits."

Now, what are the facts? JOHNSON, SEWARD, WEED, COWAN, DIXON, RAYMOND, DOOLITTLE, RANDALL, and their associates, are skilled in party management, and as fully entitled to be denominated party leaders as any other set of men, laid their plans to control the action of the Republican party. Trusting to their experience and astuteness, and to the vast governmental patronage at their disposal, they thought they were irresistible. Before the first shot of the political campaign was actually fired, they openly exulted in the easy triumph they imagined to await them. When the hour of trial came, they found they were marching alone. Of the people there were none with them. The masses, true to their old connections, and to their cherished purpose of so reorganizing the Union as to secure the just rights of all men, and to avoid direful complications in the future, had kept on their way with measured tread. The Conservative leaders left absolutely without followers, grew suddenly modest, and disclaim being leaders at all. Why do they not recognize the fact that men to be the leaders of a free and intelligent people must follow the popular current. WEED, RAYMOND and their associate conspirators against the Republican organization are already dashed and broken because they thought they were strong enough to control the masses with whom they had acted, and miscalculated the strength of the resistance they would be called to encounter. We do not wonder Mr. RAYMOND despairs. The people are incorruptible, and will certainly cashier every leader who endeavors, by guile or force, to get them out of the path they deliberately elected to pursue.

SOBER SECOND THOUGHT.

Two months ago the people of the Southern States, who imparted vitality and power to the rebellion, conceived that a path to unhoped-for success had opened before them, and that all they had to do was to march boldly into it, and reap the full fruition of their desires. And it must be confessed, even now, that the tripartate coalition between Rebels, Democrats, and Conservatives did afford reasonable expectation of large results. But a change has come over the movement at the North. Already has it become powerless. This is so palpable that Southern journals are admonishing their readers to withdraw as rapidly as possible from the coalition, because fraught with new dangers to the Southern people. The Richmond Whig, after counseling its followers "to keep quiet and mind their own business," says:

"There is talk of civil war, and we are counted upon by the Conservatives. There was talk of war in 1860, and we were put forward to inaugurate it. There was more than talk—there was war. But the part of Hamlet was left out. When the pinch came, our sympathizers either dropped off voluntarily, or were forced off by the pressure brought to bear upon them at the North. When they talk of war now—let them talk, but it behooves us to keep our mouths shut and our eyes open. Let us resolve neither to threaten, nor begin, nor participate in war, except at the command of the constituted authorities, and under the legitimate flag of the Union. We should also abstain from all entangling alliances that may subject us to injury and persecution. We did not understand our Northern friends in 1860. We thought they meant what they said. We now have learned that they say many things that they do not mean. All Northern parties made up their family quarrel after we had got fairly into the war, and they prosecuted it together. They would, in all probability, do the same thing again. We call upon the country to note the fact that the sequestration of civil war (so much talked about,) did not, and does not come from the South. The voice of the South, unlike that of Compromise, is for peace. We must take care not to be put forward as favoring war, and we must also discountenance the idea that any projected war is for our benefit."

The Galveston Bulletin, which has been conspicuous among Southern journals for moderation and sagacity, declares—

"A single act of official wisdom by our Governor or the Legislature is worth a thousand speeches in removing from the Northern mind the impression that the Southern people do not accept the situation, or that no Northern man can live in the South, especially in Texas, with safety to life and property. So long as this impression prevails and materially influences the actions of men, there will be no practical restoration of the Union; for the great ligaments of trade and commerce will not re-unite; while the greater bonds of social life will remain relaxed or sundered. If we are to present to the world an undivided front of renewed nationality, hiding behind a solid and formidable unity any internal differences or weaknesses, we must begin now, in good faith, to strike hands with the North and the East and the West, inviting from them to our vast domain the capital and energy that have given to them such transcendent power of performance in peace and in war, and such elements of rapidly increasing growth and greatness."

These exhibitions of feeling and opinion are commendable. When they become general at the South the period of full and complete restoration will not be long delayed, and the alienations and hatreds engendered by the war, and the agitations that preceded it, will give place to mutual respect and confidence.

—There is at present a quarrel existing in New York between the manufacturers of paper collars, cuffs, shirt bosoms, and other articles of that description, which bids fair to rival the great Erie railroad controversy, which culminated in the Queen of the Isles so many years ago. Since the breaking out of the war, the former has doubled the wages of the latter, and increased the number of hours of labor from ten to nearly ten times what it was before hostilities commenced. Acting in the general sense of the people, and seeing in the demand among soldiers and sailors for collars, cuffs, shirt bosoms, &c., a means of investing in a permanent business, the manufacturers of these articles have increased the number of hands employed, and the consequence has been that the latter, not content with what they have received, and what they are receiving, have struck for higher wages, and the former refuse to accede to their demands. The result is that the latter are out on a strike, and the former are left without hands to carry on their business. Which will succeed in the end, and thus obtain what they want, remains to be seen. Meanwhile the public will be the sufferers, as they will be compelled to pay the increased prices, and the aggrieved operatives will be deprived of the means of living.

WORDS OF VITAL INTEREST.—Will the thousands who read columns of frivolous verbiage every day devote FIVE MINUTES to the perusal of a few facts which concern them nearly? Our texts are HEALTH, and we will put our commentary into a nutshell. WEAKNESS is indirectly the cause of all sickness; for if nature be strong enough to resist the morbid influences which produce illness, of course they are powerless. Seek strength, therefore. Invigorate and regulate this system. When the quicksilver ranges from 80 to 90 degrees in the shade, the most athletic are enfeebled, and the weak are prostrated. If it at such a time you touch an invigorator as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is urgently needed. What are the effects of this rare Vegetable Tonic? Would that all who have known its benefits could condense their experience into this paragraph. They would tell the healthy to protect their health from the sun's rays, and safeguard against the debilitating influences. They would exhort the weak to diminish all unmedicated and improvident stimulants, and, by the wholesome and unfailing tonic and alterative as the shipwrecked mariner would cling to a raft in a stormy sea. They would, in short, tell suffering humanity, of opposite the re-tested, of all their nerves re-strung, of headaches prevented, of disordered stomachs regulated, of hypochondria dispelled, of miasmic diseases banished, of liver and ague cured, of liver complaints arrested, of heat, irritation and toil allayed, of hope reanimated, and cheerfulness restored. Such are the effects of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. oc2

Criminal Court.

Yesterday morning, at the usual hour, Court opened with Judges Stowe and Brown on the bench.

The first case taken up was that of John Weidrich, indicted for committing an assault and battery upon John Huber. The jury found a verdict of not guilty, and ordered the prosecutor to pay the cost of prosecution.

Julia Lee plead guilty to an indictment for selling liquor without license, and was fined ten dollars and the costs of prosecution.

The next case taken up was that of W. E. Wright and William Johnson, indicted for larceny. The prosecutor was charged with picking the pockets of Mr. Middleton, on the night of the Presidential reception.

Mr. McMillan was knocked partially down in the crowd, in front of the St. Charles Hotel, and when he regained his feet his pocket-book was gone. He was able to describe the two persons standing near him at the time, and whom he suspected of committing the outrage. The two defendants were arrested and placed on trial yesterday. A verdict of not guilty was returned in the case of Wright, but Johnston was convicted and remanded to the Allegheny Opera House Theatre, and entered the Opera Saloon, where he became intoxicated. Captain Monroe, the proprietor of the saloon, an ex-rebel officer in the army, left his wife for a few moments in the theatre, and entered the saloon about the same time as Monroe. Observing Titus making a disturbance, he endeavored with others, to persuade him to leave the house, and walked towards the door with him in a peaceable manner. Titus suddenly drew a pistol, which Monroe caught, but it was discharged, the ball passing through Monroe's arm near the shoulder. Titus instantly drew another pistol and fired the second bullet, taking effect in Monroe's stomach. The latter fell to the floor and died from this wound during the night. Titus was arrested and locked up in the jail.

A Good Promotion.

We take great pleasure in announcing the promotion of an old Pittsburgher in the United States Army. In accordance with special order, No. 463, Brevet Brigadier General Oakes, Colonel of the Sixth U. S. Cavalry, who has been occupying the position of chief mustering and disbursing officer for the State of Illinois for several years past, has been relieved and ordered to report to the Adjutant General. General Oakes has displayed so much ability in the discharge of the many onerous duties imposed upon him that he has been promoted from the rank of Lieut. Colonel of the Fourth U. S. Cavalry to Brevet Brigadier General, and retires from his position in Illinois as Colonel of the Sixth U. S. Cavalry.

In bidding him farewell, the Springfield Journal pays this officer the following compliment: "As an officer, General Oakes stands among the highest in the army for administrative ability and unswerving integrity, and as a gentleman it is a pleasure and satisfaction to have known him. We sincerely regret that official duties in other quarters take him from our midst. The best wishes of our entire community accompany him wherever he may go."

General Oakes is an old Pittsburgher, and our citizens will be glad to hear of his promotion.

Pay Up.

We have been requested by J. F. Slagle, the solicitor of the City, to call attention to the fact that a large number of persons whose property has been assessed for payment of damages caused by the change of grade of High and Ross streets, have neglected to pay their assessments. The time fixed for payment has passed, and it is their duty, as provided by the act of Assembly, to enter liens and proceed to enforce payment by process of law. In order to avoid cost to the parties he will defer entering liens until Monday, October 7, 1868. All persons owning property on Fifth street and Pennsylvania avenue are interested and should at once attend to the matter. His office is No. 105 Fifth street.

Beautiful Prize.—There is a present a beautiful silk banner upon exhibition at the jewelry establishment of McFadden & Co., Market street. It has been gotten up regardless of expense, costing something over one hundred dollars. It is to be presented to the district furnishing the largest proportionate number of delegates or delegates to the Grand Mass Convention, to be held at McKeesport on Thursday next. The prize is well worth contending for, and we presume nearly every district in the county will do its full duty in order to carry away the beautiful trophy.

The Prize Banner.—The ladies of McKeesport have had manufactured a beautiful banner to be presented to the largest delegation from any borough in attendance upon the Union Republican Mass Convention, which will be held in that town on Thursday, the 8th inst. The banner is now on exhibition at McFadden's, Market street. Its dimensions are thirty-six by forty inches, is made of the finest silk, and bears as an inscription the golden words of Lincoln—"With malice towards none, with charity for all."

True Bills Found.—The Grand Jury was in session yesterday, and returned true bills in the cases of the Commonwealth vs. M. F. Sawyer, of the Republic, charged with libel on oath of S. Riddle, Esq., and Col. Schoyer, Jr., Esq. It will be remembered that the suits are brought in consequence of articles which appeared some time ago in the Republic, charging that Messrs. Schoyer & Riddle had "divided" the old Gazette Company out of a large amount of money.

Another Name of Democratic Standard-Bearer.—Col. T. E. Boyle has received a letter from Col. Wm. H. Boyle, in which he states that he has also received a letter from Col. Johnston requesting a meeting, held at the corner of Stevenson street and Pennsylvania avenue, on September 29th, about his consent or approbation. Capt. Mattis was named in the city at the time of the meeting, and without it distinctly understood that he does not train in any such company.

Assault and Battery.—Judge Stowe had before him yesterday morning a case which was tried in the Mayor's Court on Saturday, and which grew out of the shooting of the boy Cook. It appears that Cook, Tuesday last, and Mr. Hubbard, the owner of the premises, had some words, when Cook struck Hubbard a blow in the face, and the latter retaliated by striking Cook with a stick, which broke his arm. The case was carried to Court, and Hubbard was fined $10 and costs, and in default of payment was committed to jail.

The Grand Jury.—The following gentlemen were drawn as Grand Jurors for the October Court of Common Pleas, which commences on Monday next, and not twenty-three, as stated in the Gazette yesterday, as the Grand Jury is composed of twenty-three persons. The Petit Jurors will be drawn on Tuesday next:

Assessment of Damages.—The assessment of damages caused by the change of grade of Ross street, between Fifth avenue and Diamond alley, will be made by the Viewers on Monday next, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the office of Mr. Slagle, on Fifth street.

EARLY TELEGRAMS.

Fall of a Building—Joe Coburn Challenged—Cholera Report—Boiler Explosion—Case of Mr. Roberts.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The three story building known as the Commercial College, at Hillsdale, Michigan, fell on Friday morning, burying a family named Dudley in the ruins. The father, wife, and one son were killed, and another son had his leg broken.

Mike McCool, who recently won a prize fight in St. Louis, has challenged Joe Coburn, who whipped him in Maryland three years ago, for from $1,000 to $5,000. Coburn accepts the challenge.

There were six fresh cases of cholera reported in this city yesterday. Mulberry street was the principal centre of cholera last week.

The boiler of a brass factory in Cincinnati exploded yesterday, wrecking the building and fatally injuring the engineer, and wounding others.

The nolle prosequi in the case of Mr. Roberts, President of the Fenians, will be entered at the October term of the Criminal Court.

Fatal Affray at Memphis.

NEW YORK, October 1.—The Tribune's Memphis special of the 29th, says: Last night about ten o'clock, Mr. Edward Titus, son of Frazier Titus, of this city, Chairman of the Vigilance Committee in rebel times, came out of the Greenlow Opera House Theatre, and entered the Opera Saloon, where he became intoxicated. Captain Monroe, the proprietor of the saloon, an ex-rebel officer in the army, left his wife for a few moments in the theatre, and entered the saloon about the same time as Monroe. Observing Titus making a disturbance, he endeavored with others, to persuade him to leave the house, and walked towards the door with him in a peaceable manner. Titus suddenly drew a pistol, which Monroe caught, but it was discharged, the ball passing through Monroe's arm near the shoulder. Titus instantly drew another pistol and fired the second bullet, taking effect in Monroe's stomach. The latter fell to the floor and died from this wound during the night. Titus was arrested and locked up in the jail.

The President's Message—Decrease of the Public Debt.

NEW YORK, October 1.—A Herald Washington special says: The President, it is understood, is devoting every moment he can spare to the preparation of his annual message. It is believed that he will adhere rigidly to his present line of policy, and will take the ground that in the negotiations of new amendments to the Constitution all the States that claim, and are willing to exercise the right, shall be represented. He will also suggest to Congress a proposition to fix an amendment in proportion the representation among the States according to the number of qualified male voters, as prescribed by each State, the amendment to take effect when the census of 1870 has been taken.

A Herald's special says: It is stated that the monthly report of the public debt for September will show a decrease of about $13,000,000 in the indebtedness and a large increase in the specie on hand.

Difficulty with Turkey—United States War Ship Dispatched to Cyprus.

NEW YORK, October 1.—The Herald's special by the cable, dated London, September 30th, says: In consequence of a difficulty which has existed for some time past between the United States Consul in the Island of Cyprus and the Turkish authorities, the United States Minister in Constantinople, Mr. E. Joy Morris, has demanded full satisfaction from the Sultan and his Cabinet. Pending the negotiations, which assume a rather serious aspect, Mr. Morris communicated with Admiral Goldsborough, and the United States war ship Ticonderoga, Capt. Charles Steedman, which has been lying off the port of Venice, was dispatched thence for Cyprus. The difficulty referred to originated in the Turkish authorities entering the house of the United States Consul and taking therefrom an alleged conscript.

Floods in Ohio Not Yet Abated.

New York, October 1.—The Herald's Cincinnati dispatch says the floods in Ohio are not yet abated. The Muskingum river is higher than it was during the freshet of 1860, and the Sandusky river is also flooded, the trains on railroads crossing it being unable to run.

—It is a very discreditable thing for us, and the more discreditable because it is unnecessary, that our people continue to be sent to Europe by weekly millions, and there exchanged at a sacrifice of twenty-five per cent for superfluous commodities. We produce, and silver, to-day at the rate of $600,000,000 per annum, which ought, under wise financial management, to raise our paper at once to a specie basis. We are beginning to export our accustomed crops, and every day will see this export augmented. We are producing at home a thousand things which we lately imported, and every day sees the product varied and augmented. Our current revenue is considerably more than $300,000,000 per annum. Our expenses, even calculating the payment of $100,000,000 of the principal of the debt, are less than $400,000,000. We can pay our yearly government charges and liquidate one-fifteenth of the debt this year upon the condition which never existed, a thing which no other country in the world could do. We are certain that what we can do this year we can do more fully and at the same time more easily the next, and yet the ten per cent gold bonds of the country are peddled in Europe to wary buyers at a loss of twenty-five per cent.

Such a state of affairs argues gross mismanagement somewhere. Wise financial management would not allow it to exist for an hour. It saps our strength in a vital manner. But thus far no action seems to be taken to prevent it where alone useful action can be taken. Such will inevitably be the case. It will be recognised that we are losing as though we had another war on hand, and the corrective will be applied. Fortunately that is in our power, and we can avert the losses under which we suffer, and make 1867 date our freedom from debt and increased prosperity.—Phila North American.

—Things seem to be tightening up in Canada for some reason—probably the Fenian movements—certainly not a war debt. Money at Montreal commands 15 per cent, and there is a great press upon the Canadian Banks, while great caution is observed in trade circles, with a universal feeling of insecurity.

A Western wild cat bank—the Prodducers' of Chicago—has just come to grief, and is an illustration of the manner in which irresponsible parties make money out of the public by forming banks on a capital, now-a-days. It turns out on investigation (as reported in the local journals) that this bank—an individual concern, managed by one Doolittle—commenced business "without a cent of capital. It appears that the concern went into operation upon four notes, amounting in the aggregate to $25,000, drawn by three members of the Doolittle family and one Talcott, but as the notes could not be found after the collapse, it is doubted that they ever existed. According to the books, the liabilities of the concern were $98,553.51, and the available assets between $3000 and $4000. The West has suffered long and heartily by the numerous robberies she has sustained at the hands of the "wild cat" bankers. The end is not yet found, it is estimated, foot up millions. It is to be hoped that the author of this last swindle will receive such condign punishment as will henceforth deter others from treading the same guilty path.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

New York Stock and Money Market.

The money market is fairly active, owing to the great speculation at the Stock Exchange, but the demand is readily met at 4@5 per cent. on call. Prime discounts, 6@7 per cent. The gold market is more active. The [illegible] for investment securities was quiet and steady, and generally lower; closing prices were: 5-20 coupons, 1865, [illegible]; do 1867, [illegible]; 10-40s, 98½@99; July 7-30's, 106¾@107.

The excitement in the Stock market throughout the day has been intense, and the disposition to purchase seemed to have no limit. The dealings in the leading Railway shares have been violent at times, but every decline was quickly succeeded by a sharp rally, and the closing prices were the highest of the day, in most cases. The great features of the morning were Erie, Michigan Southern, Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Rock Island, while later in the day New York Central and Ohio Certificates took a sudden and sharp upward turn, which added to the general excitement. The present speculative feeling is equal to anything witnessed in the market during the present year, and has certainly surpassed everything since that time. The unusual buoyancy of the market is based on facts, and the tendency is still towards higher prices. At the last board the market was strong and buoyant right up to the last, with a general advance on the day. After the call the market was active in the long room, and still higher prices were made in the leading stocks.

At the afternoon board the mining shares were generally steady with an advance on Cumberland, Quartz Hill and Canada Copper.

There has been a sudden rise in the Cleveland Stocks. Petroleum Stocks—Shade Rive, 30. United States, 770.

Mining Stocks—Boscobel, 145; Consolidated Colorado, 48; Consolidated Gregory Gold, 1.42½; Liberty, 40; Montana, 19; Quartz Hill, 65; Smith & Par, 11.75; Texas, 43; Canada Copper, 165; Walker Lead, 275.

Money very easy at 3@5 per cent., chiefly at 4 per c'nt. Sterling firm at 108@109. Gold active and firmer, opening at 146, declining to 145¾, advancing to 145¾ and closing at 146¾. Government stocks steady and easier. Freights to Liverpool are steady.

WEEKLY BANK STATEMENT.

Loans, $338,407,203, Decrease, $2,968,783; Specie, $7,667,800, Increase, $38,551; Circulation, $29,253,810; Increase, $418,000; Legal Tenders, $67,238,081; decrease, $4,693,100; Deposits, $223,396,785; Decrease, $1,497,000.

Commercial's money article says: The upward movement in stocks appears to be approaching its climax. The subscription list shows great strength and quotations average 1@2 per cent. higher. The money market retains an aspect of extreme ease of late, prevailing for the moment. The banks do not show quite so much activity to lend, which may be attributed to a slight diminution in the demand for currency in demand from Cincinnati and Chicago for currency. The rate on call loans remains at 4 per cent. Foreign Exchange opens quiet, while there is a very light supply of bills; there is also an expectedly light demand and rates are not strong. The Gold market is comparatively quiet as respects speculation, but the demand for customs is active. The prevailing tone of the market is firm for the moment. Loans are made at 3-32 per cent. per day.

The Post's Money article says: With an abundance of idle capital, Call loans are per be recognised that we are losing as though we had another war on hand, and the corrective will be applied. Fortunately that is in our power, and we can avert the losses under which we suffer, and make 1867 date our freedom from debt and increased prosperity.—Phila North American.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily at this point, with six and a half feet in the channel last evening. At Oil City, the Allegheny was reported falling yesterday forenoon, with three feet in the channel. The weather continues warm and cloudy with slight indications of rain.

The W. A. Caldwell, from Cincinnati, and the Bertha, from St. Louis, constitute the arrivals since our last report. The transient arrivals and departed for Parkersburg. Bayard arrived and departed for Parkersburg, and the Lent Leoni, from the same point, is due here to-day.

The Julia, from Portsmouth, is due here to-day, and the Glasgow, from Cincinnati, ought to reach here to-night or to-morrow. The Columbia and Minnie were advertised to leave Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Saturday.

Owing to the scarcity of New Orleans freights, Capt. Ness has concluded to fill out the Importer for Cincinnati and Louisville, and shippers should bear this mind. The Importer will leave to-morrow. Capt. Jas. Mellon still remains in charge of the office.

The E. C. Gray after an absence of about three months, reached here on Sunday, with a good trip. She brought four hundred tons to Pittsburgh, and left fifty tons at Wheeling, besides little "jags" at different points along the river. As will be seen by card, Capt. Anderson announces the Gray for Cincinnati and Louisville forth.

The Ezra Porter, in command of Capt. J. H. Porter, is filling up slowly but steadily for New Orleans, and will take her departure during the latter of this week.

The Wheeling Intelligencer of Monday says: On Friday last, as the steamer Bayard was lying at some port below this, a negro deck hand, employed on the boat, found a [illegible] which had been in the water for some time. Of this he ate quite freely Friday night, soon after he was taken sick. On Saturday morning, before the steamer had reached this city, he died.

We clip the following items from the Sunday's Cincinnati Commercial:

The Kate Robinson, Capt. R. Robinson, will commence loading for Pittsburgh on Monday.

The Commodore has taken the place of the Charleston, in the Higginsport trade.

Capt. D. H. Rice of the St. James, was presented with a magnificent gold-headed cane on Friday, by the cabin crew of this fine packet.

Engineer George W. Smith died of consumption yesterday, after an illness of several months. The deceased commenced engineering on the Jamestown in 1843, and was engineer of the Marmora, belonging to the Mississippi Squadron.

Capt. Stant J. Batchelor, of the J. R. Gilmore, arrived from the wreck of this steamer yesterday.

An evening paper reports the sale of the Rebecca, Capt. James S. Wise requests us to state that such is not the case.

Capt. John S. Conway, of the Lorraine, leaves for Pittsburgh this evening, having been called home owing to the sudden illness of his father-in-law, Mr. F. Pinnkett.

The Louisville departed for New Orleans last night, with 800 tons, including way engagements.

The Indiana has laid up at Louisville, owing to the scarcity of New Orleans freights.

The Cairo Democrat says the steamer G. Shields was destroyed by fire on Monday night, September 16, ten miles below the mouth Red river. The chambermaid and a colored cabin boy were the only persons lost, although there were about twenty colored persons on board. Fifty bales cotton, all the boat's papers and $7,000 in cash, in the office, were lost. The boat was owned by Captain Ellis Shrode and Johnson, Vulliet and Co. The boat was not insured. Capt. Johnson owned two thirds, and Ellithrope the remainder. After she burned to the water's edge she turned over and sank to one side. She was on her regular trip from New Orleans to Louisville, to be repaired for the Red river trade.

JEFFERSONVILLE, IND., September 29.—2 P. M.—EDS. COM.—There is 10 feet over the Falls and falling. The Silver Cloud passed over this Falls. The John W. Garrett, with three barges, came down. The tugs Little Alpha, Lark and Antelope came down. No boating; coal boats have not yet got through though there are twelve pairs in port. D. M. Dudley, Falls Pilot.

SAME the Louisville Journal of Saturday: There was a large amount of coal at the foot of the Island yesterday, and the Tigress was busy all day in towing barges over the falls. The Hornet left with sixteen barges for Vicksburg, containing 160,000 bushels.

THE COLORADO VALLEY.—We copy the following from the Evansville Journal of the 27th:

A new patent safety valve lock was placed on the Armada. When she got steam up to 60 lbs it commenced blowing off, and continued to blow until it was reduced to 20 lbs. It was taken off and the old safety valve replaced before leaving yesterday.

The disease was said to be genuine cholera.

FALLACIES OF THE STEAMBOAT LAW.—The greater number of steamboatmen are pretty unanimous in their denunciations of the absurdity of the features of the steamboat law. The local inspectors, too, are looked upon rather as incumbrances than helps, and we learn that they legislate in different directions in accordance with peculiar views of their own. At Pittsburgh, instance, the new fangled law requiring the "lock-up guage rods" on each boat's hull is not enforced at all under the stern wheel towing fleet, which embraces the greatest, or leading feature of the commerce of the place. Why not exempt by act that class of pork from Cincinnati, or the sugar packets that carry produce and provisions or passengers to or from St. Louis or Louisville. As coal is the commerce of Pittsburgh it should be under the same restrictions as regulate all other points. If a boat blows up the property is lost, and the lives of the crew jeopardized, if not all lost too.—Louisville Courier.

STEAMBOATS.
